Exam success

Waltham Forest's hard-working young people have hit the headlines for all the right reasons - as their dedication to their studies resulted in excellent A Level and GSCE exam pass rates in the borough.

Putting paid to the negative impression a small minority have given young people in recent weeks, the borough's student population studied hard and overall there was a rise in the numbers of pupils passing their exams with flying colours.

The A Level results came out on Thursday 18 August, with GSCE results following a week later on Thursday 25 August.

Provisional figures show that Waltham Forest's students attained the borough's best ever GCSE results.

Proof, if it were needed, that the majority of young people in the borough are contentious, hard working and a credit to us all.

In my opinion

Liza Fletcher

Founder, Walthamstow International Film Festival

Whoever thought that there would be a Walthamstow International Film Festival? And who cares?

Over the past two years, I've been involved in founding and developing the Film Festival and the E17 Films education workshops in the borough. I've met talented individuals who have worked voluntarily to put Walthamstow on the map in the world of independent short films. I started the project with Paul Fletcher to introduce film to the E17 Art Trail. But once we got started, people told us that they had a passion or talent for film-making. This led us to put together a programme of film appreciation and film making which we will repeat in autumn 2011.

So why all the fuss about film? Films can document our lives from family videos to newsreels of city riots. Film is a language, which tells a story through moving pictures and can contain powerful messages. The Battle of the Somme was made in the Wood Street Studios in Walthamstow in the 1920s. It broke all box office records at the time and this was only broken by Star Wars in 1977. These two films touched people's lives for very different reasons.

Film is entertainment. Film is escapism. Waltham Forest is the only Olympic borough not to have a cinema, and we would all like one back. But the festival has shown that there is also a real appetite for pop-up cinema and watching films in unusual locations. Last year around 1,000 visitors came to watch films over the two-week period in a local shop. This year, the festival will be housed in a pub, an environmental centre, a community space and a museum as well as the original furniture shop in Walthamstow Village. Film has the power to make you forget where you are watching.

But most importantly the film festival in Walthamstow and the Art Trail makes people feel good about where they live. The annual event brings colour into our neighbourhood and makes us aware of our talented neighbours. Our local film-makers include children's first animations, artists, retired people enjoying a lifelong hobby, students or protestors who want to make a point or those on the first run of their film career. Walthamstow is proud to provide a platform for anyone who makes a good film and lets the whole world come and watch for free.

The Walthamstow Film Festival runs for the two weekends of the E17 Art Trail from Saturday 3 September to Sunday 11 September.

For more information about Walthamstow International Film Festival venues and E17 Films Workshops you can visit www.e17films.com.

Families enjoy themselves at the Plaza opening on 1 September

Wood Street Plaza grand opening

- State of the art lighting and design revitalises old precinct
- Improvements will help people make the most of the area

The old precinct in Wood Street has been revitalised as part of a £1.8million scheme to improve the area. High quality granite has been used extensively and features including water jets and special lighting have breathed new life into this important local facility.

At an opening ceremony on Thursday 1 September, Cllr Clyde Loakes, Cabinet Member for Environment, told Waltham Forest News: "Residents will see a real difference from the old precinct. We want the Plaza to become a focal point for the community and I believe the changes will encourage local people to make the most of it."

The new Plaza has also been reconfigured, extending the children's play area and planting new trees. Other new features include cycle racks, illuminated bollards, new bins, a water drinking fountain and footway and tree lighting.

"It was about looking at what we had and making the most of it," explained Cllr Loakes. "We replaced the area of grass that was being used as a dog toilet by extending the children's play area and replacing the rest of the area with high quality paving and granite benches.

"By putting in lots of clever lighting we have also made it a much more attractive area that people will hopefully feel safer and happier to use. The water jets are lit from beneath and there are festoon lights that are situated in the trees. The result is very effective."

The opening event saw Cllr Loakes cut a ribbon in time-honoured fashion, followed by a barbecue provided by the local butcher and refreshments provided by the Co-op.

Cinema study announced

- Council teams up with Waltham Forest Cinema Trust for plans to resurrect former cinema
- Trust believes scheme is viable following talks with cinema operators and industry specialists

Cllr Chris Robbins, Council Leader, and Neil Gerrard, Chair of the Waltham Forest Cinema Trust, hope to bring the former Cinema back into use

Waltham Forest Council and the Waltham Forest Cinema Trust have announced that they will fund a study to develop a business case to bring the former EMD Cinema back into use as a multi-purpose entertainment venue.

The Council and the Trust will each be contributing £15,000 to the study and will work together to develop the brief for the study.

The site, on Hoe Street in Walthamstow, is still owned by the United Church of the Kingdom of God (UCKG). On 18 May 2011 Waltham Forest's Planning Committee unanimously rejected the Church's application to turn the site into a place of worship for a number of reasons, including the proposal's potential detriment to the local economy; the loss of a local cultural and leisure amenity and the additional stress the proposal would place on local streets.

Cllr Chris Robbins, Leader of Waltham Forest Council, said: "There is a tremendous amount of grassroots support for bringing the building back into use as a cultural venue, and I'm glad to be able to lend my wholehearted support to the Waltham Forest Cinema Trust.

"These are early days but I believe the Trust has the knowledge and expertise to make this work and I'm therefore happy to do what I can to bring their plans one small step closer to reality.

"We still have to wait and see whether the building's owners will appeal the Planning Committee's decision, but I hope that the UCKG will seriously consider the Trust's offer and that this long-vacant site can soon be brought back into use for the benefit of the local community."

Neil Gerrard, Chair of the Waltham Forest Cinema Trust, said: "We're convinced that bringing the EMD back into use as a cinema and live performance venue would be hugely popular and prove to be a great asset to the local community and the local economy.

"The many discussions we've had with cinema operators, industry consultants and others convince us that a reborn cinema would be entirely viable. Restoring this wonderful Grade II* listed building and making it fit for the 21st century will be a huge undertaking and the backing of the Council to help us develop our plans is greatly welcomed. The Trust now intends to undertake detailed feasibility studies to secure confirmed backing and investment for this venture."

Buildings accessible to all

Making buildings in Waltham Forest accessible to all, and especially to disabled people, just got easier with the launch of two new planning guidebooks for developers and architects.

The Council's 'Inclusive Housing Design' and 'Inclusive Design for Non-Residential Buildings' supplementary planning documents will help developers, architects, building professionals and community groups consider creative ways to address accessibility issues.

The guides include the reasons and benefits for designing inclusively and the technical standards that need to be taken on board to achieve this.

Cllr Marie Pye, Cabinet Member for Housing and Development, told Waltham Forest News: "We are completely committed to promoting equality for disabled people and central to this is creating accessible and inclusive buildings and communities.

"These documents are just one of the ways that we are working to improve our borough and tackle the inequality experienced by disabled people."

Inclusive design benefits people with physical, sensory or cognitive impairments, people with mental health conditions, older people, children, carers and people with temporary impairments.

Cllr Pye added: "These are practical documents that will be used to make real improvements to buildings and other places in our borough. I very much hope this new guidance will be used by people involved in creating our built environment in order to make Waltham Forest as inclusive as possible."

In brief

Library consultation

Residents are being encouraged to have their say on the future of Waltham Forest's libraries and comment on a set of proposals by the Council. The proposals come as part of the Council's plans to save £65million over the next four years in the face of increased demand on vital services such as social care. The plans suggest closing two libraries – those in South Chingford and Harrow Green – while eight would remain open. Of those eight, the libraries in each of the borough's main town centres (North Chingford, Walthamstow, Leyton and Leytonstone) would become known as 'Library Plus' branches. These would then be open seven days a week and see their opening hours increase. Each Library Plus location would also offer residents more by way of advice, information and access to council services, meaning a better offer for residents who don't regularly visit their local library. The libraries in Highams Park, Wood Street, Higham Hill and Lea Bridge will be known as 'Library Locals' and open for 30 hours a week. Both Library Plus and Library Local branches will offer improved technology facilities, providing internet access, and better library stock. The Council is asking for residents' feedback on the proposals, and you have until Friday 9 September to have your say.

Council tax sentence

A former resident who thought he'd given Waltham Forest Council the slip has been sent to prison for failing to pay his £4205 Council Tax bill. Matthew Edem of Ilford was tracked down despite the fact that he'd left his previous property in Beacontree Road, Leytonstone. He was originally arrested in February and bailed to attend court, which he failed to do. A warrant without bail was granted, and though he'd left the borough he was nevertheless traced to Ilford and brought before Waltham Forest Magistrates' Court on 18 August, where he was found guilty of 'Wilful Refusal' and 'Culpable Neglect' regarding the conduct of his Council Tax account.

• For more information about your Council tax bill, visit www.walthamforest.gov.uk/counciltax. Free internet access is available in all of the borough's libraries.

The Stow Festival

A new annual music festival is coming to Walthamstow at the end of the month, bringing an exciting addition to the borough's thriving festival scene. The Stow Festival will take place from Thursday 29 September to Sunday 2 October. There will be live music in pubs, cafes, restaurants, open air performances and gigs in established music venues. Emma Betts, Chair of The Stow Festival's Management Committee, told Waltham Forest News: "I am delighted to announce the dates for The Stow Festival 2011 when music is going to take over Walthamstow. We have a popular festival scene in E17, encompassing visual art, film and comedy but music is notable by its absence. This is a gap that the festival aims to fill. The area is home to a fantastic range of musicians and bands and the launch of The Stow Festival provides an opportunity for the area's musical talents to shine."

Summer Daze are fun

- Thousands of Waltham Forest youngsters enjoyed Council's summer activity programme
- Over £200,000 was invested in Summer Daze and Summer University

Over the school summer holidays thousands of young people living in Waltham Forest took full advantage of a scheme which offered three to 19 year olds hundreds of activities and events.

Now in its second year, 'Schools open for the summer' offered access to play schemes, events, entertainment and activities for children, young people, families and over 60s.

The Council invested £200,000 to open up 34 schools over the summer again this year, and £150,000 to provide activities for under 17 year olds and people over 60. Many activities were completely free.

Cllr Saima Mahmud, Cabinet Member for Children and Young People, told Waltham Forest News: "We all know how hard it can be for families to keep children entertained over the holidays, so the Council invested significantly to help more schools to take part in the 'Schools open for the summer' programme.

"When I visited some of the activities, it was clear all the young people were having a fantastic time. Many had made new friends and parents knew that their children were learning new things and enjoying themselves in a safe, secure environment.

"We have had thank you emails from parents and children saying how much they enjoyed and appreciated all of the events on offer."

Last year nearly 2,400 children and young people took part in the schools open for the summer programme and over 1,000 13 to 19 year olds attended summer youth sessions, with many more taking part in a range of activities.

This year over 7000 young people took part in summer activities.

But what did young people, and their families, think of Summer Daze? Waltham Forest News went along to a multi-sport session to find out.

Six year old Isaac from Walthamstow said: "The multi-sports sessions are great! Sometimes I don't get a chance to play a lot of football in the garden but here I can play it as much as I want to. I like it because the mentors are fair."

D'Angelo, 10, told Waltham Forest News: "My mum found out about this summer programme in Waltham Forest News. I especially like the football and the different sports because there's a lot to choose from."

Julian Birch and his daughter Phoebe attended cycle training sessions held at Whitehall Primary School, Chingford. Julian told Waltham Forest News: "The cycle coaching given to Phoebe was excellent."

"Our previous attempts to wean her off stabilisers weren't successful, but after about five minutes of training Phoebe was already without her stabilisers. Throughout the training session and the ride home (without stabilisers) Phoebe sported a massive grin."

And the fun isn't over yet, as there will be more activities throughout the rest of the year.

Look out for more information about Autumn Daze, Winter Daze and Spring Daze in future editions of Waltham Forest News.

E17 Art Trail

- E17 Art Trail runs until 11 September, offering some 300 sights, activities and exhibitions
- This year's trail also includes a children's activity guide

Illustration by Carl Harris aka Catboy

Homes, studios, businesses and open spaces will be offering a feast for the senses until Sunday 11 September as the ever-inventive E17 Art Trail once more winds its way across Walthamstow.

Now in its seventh year, this year's trail boasts some 300 exhibitions and events in 160 venues. To celebrate the forthcoming London 2012

Games this year's theme is 'On your marks'.

Visitors making their way around the trail will encounter displays and exhibitions taking many different forms; from arts and crafts to paintings and photography, along with film, performance art, quizzes and workshops.

You can make your own way round the trail, using the paper guide or iPhone app, or take advantage of a number of guided walking or cycle tours.

For the first time there will also be a children's trail guide, 'The Big Little Trail', with 42 things to see and do; and a poetry trail with poems shown in the windows of estate agents.

For film lovers, there is a new pop-up cinema with screenings for both young and old, artists films on the Big Screen in partnership with the BBC and The Projection Gallery, and the Walthamstow International Film Festival returns for a second year.

Cris Thompson, Trail Founder told Waltham Forest News: "We never cease to be amazed by how the community take the trail to heart. We planned this event months in advance but after the looting here and in Tottenham it took on a heightened sense of importance. In a small way we were able to remind everyone of the true community spirit that exists here."

The trail guide, which lists every exhibition and a handy map, is now available to download from the E17 Art Trail website. You can also meet the organisers in person at their information hub in Walthamstow Town Square on Saturday 10 and Sunday 11 September.

Image17 project

One of the many highlights of this year's E17 Arts Trail will be a preview of a Council-commissioned photo exhibition that seeks to document the borough's thriving community sports groups in the run-up to the 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games. Called 'Taking Part', the project sees 14 local photographers known collectively as Image17 snapping 48 local groups and clubs as they swim, box, bat and bowl in order to celebrate Waltham Forest's wealth of sporting opportunities and the way in which such groups bring the community together. The project also seeks to shine a spotlight on the many volunteers and coaches who help make local sports clubs tick as well as the men, women and young people who tough it out on the pitches, courts and tracks across the borough. The project is still a work in progress and, when completed, will be touring Waltham Forest as we approach the Olympic and Paralympic Games. Talking to Waltham Forest News, Image17 photographer Nichola Tree said: "Waltham Forest is one of the host boroughs for the greatest show on earth, the 2012 Olympics. It is the first time since 1948 and Waltham Forest cannot and must not miss the opportunity to be involved and celebrate the games as well as the sport within our community. Image17 will document, celebrate and exhibit the wide variety of sport played in our Borough."

• To find out more about Image17 and see some of their handiwork visit www.image17.co.uk. Free internet access is available in all of the borough's libraries.

WALTHAM FOREST COLLEGE

Priorities

Ways to reduce crime include giving advice to residents on community safety, encouraging people to be vigilant and concentrating on town centre areas most affected by theft and robbery

Improving safety

Waltham Forest Council has five key priorities. In this edition we look at what the Council is doing to reduce the levels of crime and anti-social behaviour in the borough.

Issues affecting Waltham Forest

Over the past four years, total crime in Waltham Forest has fallen by 5.8 per cent, robbery is down by a sixth, car crime is down by more than a fifth and we are doing well for drug treatment provision with the Council's Drug Action Team rated as 'excellent'.

However, other areas such as residential burglary have risen in recent years, and while there have been noticeable reductions in anti-social behaviour (ASB) in a number of places, residents' level of concern about ASB is high, ranking among the highest in London.

The Council knows that residents think addressing crime and ASB is important – they have identified it as their second highest priority for improvement – which is why the Council has made it one of its priorities for action.

The Council aims to create a community where people are safe and feel safe. By speaking with the community the Council has focused on three key elements: victim, offender and location.

The majority of crime tends to be carried out in a small number of specific places in the borough – 27 per cent of all crime unfortunately occurs in three wards (High Street 12 per cent, Leyton 8 per cent, Lea Bridge 7 per cent) and 23 per cent of ASB in three wards (Leyton 8 per cent, High Street 8 per cent, Hoe Street 7 per cent).

But we also know that a small number of perpetrators are likely to be responsible for a large proportion of crime – 13 per cent of crime is committed by just 3 per cent of offenders.

Finally, the Council has identified that people targeted by criminals are vulnerable to becoming repeat victims – 13 per cent of victims were repeat victims in the last year.

In order to target resources to the best effect, the victim, offender and location approach allows the Council – and their partners – to work with individuals and communities to better understand and tackle the causes of crimes.

Not only is the approach designed to work with the individual victim and offender, but it also strengthens the success of its prevention and early intervention work by adopting a family-based approach.

Working with families helps to understand the causes of crime and to work with younger children to make sure they do not pursue the same route as their older siblings.

By focusing on reducing repeat victimisation, reducing re-offending and looking at crime and ASB in priority locations, the Council is determined to make a real difference to the lives of residents.

The victim, offender and location approach

To help stop repeat victimisation, the Council is working hard to reduce the vulnerability of those who are at the highest risk by focusing on domestic violence, burglary and theft from a motor vehicle.

For example, by providing counselling, legal advice and advocacy services to victims of domestic violence, repetition of the problem can be decreased. Similarly by installing window and door locks for vulnerable elderly residents those most at risk can see practical measures put in place to give them greater security.

Repeat victims of ASB are also provided with emotional support and practical advice, and targeted work with schools is provided to help reduce the likelihood of young people becoming victims, in particular of personal robbery.

Measures to stop re-offending include improving police 'clear-up' rates for burglary, robbery and car crime, getting adult offenders back into employment or training and targeting young offenders between the ages of 17 and 23, and in particular those convicted of violent crime and robbery.

In terms of locations, priority is given to two areas in Walthamstow Town Centre, focusing on reducing theft, robbery, violent crime and ASB. But work also concentrates on Leyton Mills, the Northern Olympic Fringe at Olympic Games Time and stopping people driving away from petrol stations without paying in Chingford.

"I've not noticed much crime and anti-social behaviour in this area, but I know there are problems and I think it is a good thing that the Council is dealing with gangs. It's got to be done."

"I feel safe on the streets and I'm not overly conscious of problems. I do notice it a lot more on trains and think it would be good to tackle anti-social behaviour on public transport."

Food hygiene prosecution

The owner of fast food chicken outlet 'Griller' found himself in Waltham Forest Magistrates Court on Thursday 18 August 2011 charged with seven hygiene offences in relation to his takeaway restaurant located at 200 Walthamstow High Street. Mr Babar Hussain pleaded guilty and was subsequently fined £2,800 and made to pay costs of £3,215 as a result of the prosecution brought by the Council's Environmental Health team. Cllr Clyde Loakes, Cabinet Member for Environment, said, "We take a very hard line when it comes to food safety and ensuring our food establishments are subject to regular and rigorous inspections."

Hairstyling warning

Residents are being advised to check that their hairdressers are using safe products when they visit for special hair-straightening treatments. Trading Standards Officers were alerted by a member of the public that some local hairdressers were offering a 'Brazilian keratin treatment' that used products containing potentially unsafe amounts of chemicals called formaldehyde. Products containing more than 0.2 per cent formaldehyde (a carcinogen that could cause cancer) are considered to pose a serious risk to health. When they are applied and heated using straightening irons or hairdryers they release high amounts of the chemical. It has a strong, irritating effect on the eyes and may cause serious allergic reactions, breathing problems and sickness. This not only affects the hairdresser and customer, but anyone else in the same room – including children. So when you visit your stylist check the products they are using and make sure you come away with nothing more than a fabulous new 'do.'

- For further information and advice please phone Trading Standards on 020 8496 3000.

Lea Bridge Conservation Volunteers

Lea Bridge Conservation Volunteers (LBVC) are inviting local people interested in doing hands-on practical conservation to join them for their next task. The group meets at 9.30am on the first Sunday of every month. No experience is needed, as training, tools, and even tea, coffee and biscuits are provided. All you need bring is your own packed lunch, suitable clothing for the weather and stout footwear. The group does conservation work in Lea Valley Regional Park and around Waltham Forest.

New recycling bins will be rolled out from the end of September

Your recycling bin is on its way

- Residents to receive new green coloured recycling bins
- Council urges residents to recycle more materials

From the end of September new recycling wheelie bins will be delivered to homes in the borough. These green coloured bins replace black recycling boxes. The bins will allow much more room for recyclable materials – which is what residents told the Council they wanted.

Last year, nearly 70 per cent of residents said they wanted to recycle more materials. As a result, many more household items were added to the list of recyclable items, including all plastic food and drink packaging.

"The new bins will allow residents to recycle more materials and help us all strive to reach the target of recycling 45 per cent of household waste by 2015," Cabinet Member for Environment, Cllr Clyde Loakes, told Waltham Forest News.

"It's important we give residents the right size bins to take all their recycling. Not only does it make sense for the environment, it achieves significant cost savings too."

Non-recycled rubbish is sent to landfill, which currently costs the Council £114 for every tonne. A large percentage of this cost is made up of landfill tax, which is set to rise from the current rate of £56 per tonne to £64 per tonne from April 2012 and then to £72 in 2013 and £80 in 2014.

The Council needs to save an estimated £65million over the next four years and so savings against expenses such as landfill costs are very important. The Council has also just negotiated a new contract for the collection of its refuse and recycling which will produce significant efficiencies such as less vehicles on the road.

"I hope the new recycling bin will encourage everyone living in the borough to recycle more," said Cllr Loakes. "Think about what you are currently putting in your ordinary waste bin and see if it might be something that you could divert into your green recycling bin instead. There is simply no excuse not to recycle."

While the new recycling

wheelie bin will replace the existing black box, residents are being given the choice of keeping their black box to put to some other use. "If residents do not want to keep their black box, they just need to leave it out the week after their new green recycling bin is delivered and we will take them away," said Cllr Loakes.

Residents should use their new recycling bin for food and drink cartons, yogurt pots, ice cream tubs, margarine tubs, plastic bags, magazine wrappings, plastic cups, straws, fruit punnets, plastic bottles and tops, paper, card and cardboard, food and drink cans, foil and glass bottles and jars.

Fact file

- Recycling wheelie bins will be delivered to residents as part of a rolling programme from Monday 26 September.
- Every resident will have their new recycling wheelie bin before Christmas.
- Residents' should leave their black boxes out (and empty) the week after their new green recycling bin is delivered if they want them taken away.
- The Council collects waste from over 98,000 homes in Waltham Forest.

Snow's no problem

- Preparations for dealing with snow are well underway
- Council asking for volunteers to be 'Snow Angels' and help vulnerable neighbours

Preparations are underway to keep Waltham Forest moving this winter

It may seem like summer has only just ebbed away, but the Council is already at an advanced stage in its preparations to deal with snowfall during the coming winter.

The plans mean that if Waltham Forest is hit by the sort of severe weather conditions experienced over the last few winters, it will be prepared.

"We're determined to build on the work of last year in order to tackle any snowfall that may affect the borough over the coming months,"

Cllr Clyde Loakes, Cabinet Member for Environment, told Waltham Forest News.

The Council has further invested in two new additional gritting vehicles and also purchased 50 new grit bins, replacing some that were damaged, but ultimately doubling the number on our streets over the past 12 months. These will be complemented by the recruitment of an army of 'Snow Angels' – people up and down the borough who are prepared to get out and help clear their local paths and pavements of snow.

"Last year not only did the Council advise residents on how to help vulnerable friends and neighbours during the wintery conditions, but it also launched the Snow Angels initiative," explained Cllr Loakes.

This saw Councillors and council staff being provided with high visibility vests, grit, gloves and snow scoops to help them clear snow and make sure pavements were safe to walk on. Kitting out willing volunteers to take on the conditions alleviated some of the misery that the standing snow brought – particularly to those unsure on their feet.

This year the scheme will be extended to include residents, so if you're interested in joining the Snow Angels get in touch. The Council will provide you with a 20kg bag of grit, a branded high visibility vest, protective gloves and a snow scoop or shovel.

Family Literacy, Language and Numeracy

These are FREE courses for family members and carers of school age and pre-school/nursery children. You find out how numeracy and literacy are taught in school. This helps you support your children with their school work. In addition, you can brush up your own English and Maths.

These courses are particularly helpful if you are thinking of working as a teaching assistant in a primary school. They give you an insight into how literacy and numeracy are taught today.

Family language courses are for parents and carers whose first language is not English. In many cases, it is helpful if parents and carers also attend English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) classes.

To put your name on the waiting-list for ESOL classes visit www.walthamforestclass.gov.uk or telephone 020 8520 3843 or visit any of our centres.

PLEASE NOTE
THESE COURSES ARE FREE

The beginners celebrate running a 5km race after ten weeks training

Run to it

- Eton Manor Athletics Club can help you 'Love2Run'
- Beginner runners learn to run five kilometres in ten weeks

Have you always wanted to learn to run, but find yourself quickly tired out, only to give up; demoralised, sweating and red in the face?

If that sounds familiar, help is at hand for would-be runners looking to give their stitch the slip and gear up for long-distance glory.

Leyton's Eton Manor Athletic Club began its beginners running course in July 2010 and is now hoping more people will join them for the 'Love2Run' beginner's session starting this month.

Adrian Frost, Eton Manor's men's team captain, told Waltham Forest News: "Our 'Love2Run' sessions began in July last year, so we're now celebrating our first birthday and want more people to take part.

"We wanted to get local people to join us and start running, even if they haven't run for years or perhaps have never run before."

The beginner's sessions take place at 7.15pm every Tuesday evening at Eton Manor's newly refurbished clubhouse at The Cottage, Marsh Lane, Leyton, E10.

New members begin by alternating running a minute and walking for 90 seconds, before building up to running for 30 minutes at a time by the end of the ten-week course.

Adrian said: "The beginners sessions are great because we want to remind people that sport is for all, not just for elite athletes.

"Several run leaders accompany beginners, and the first session is spent assessing everyone's level. It doesn't matter if you're not as fast as other people. There will always be a run leader to help encourage you and get you increasing the distance you are able to run."

Fifteen beginners joined the last 'Love2Run' group, which started in May this year.

New member Val Anderson

told Waltham Forest News: "I found out about Eton Manor after my daughter brought a flyer home from school. We decided to join and signed up for the 10 week course.

To say it's totally changed our lives is an understatement.

"Each week there is a dedicated team of running leaders who teach you how to run. No one gets left behind; they are with you all the way. The training starts off very gently and gradually they encourage you to build up your stamina till you can run for five, 10, 15 then 30 minutes non-stop.

"Believe me, when we first joined we could barely run for two minutes without feeling we were going to pass out! We are both a lot fitter and healthier since completing the course.

"The group we run with are very special, as are the team leaders who really are the friendliest group of people we have ever met. We all joined the course for one reason or another, whether it was to get fit, recover from illness or just to meet new people.

"I would definitely recommend Eton Manor to my friends and family."

The beginners rounded off their 10 week programme by joining 200 other runners at the Eton Manor Open 5km race on Sunday 10 July on Leyton Marshes. They were presented with their awards, including special commemorative medals.

The next "Love2Run" programme, organised in conjunction with the Council's sports development team, is taking place now.

Volunteers will give visitors directions and help with local information

Welcoming visitors to Waltham Forest

Residents are being sought to become volunteers during the 2012 Olympic Games and help welcome visitors to Waltham Forest.

The Waltham Forest Welcome project will see 120 local volunteers greeting thousands of visitors to the borough during the Olympic and Paralympic Games and be based at busy areas such as train and tube stations.

Volunteers will provide information on the local area, help with directions and advice on transport options and any logistical issues like particularly crowded areas. As residents the volunteers will be best placed to tell visitors about local attractions, places of interest and shops, cafes, pubs and restaurants.

As well as helping play their part in the games and being the 'face' of Waltham Forest, volunteers will receive free training in customer service, health and safety and how to be an effective ambassador for your neighbourhood. Learning or improving these skills could help in future employment and other areas of life.

Volunteers will also benefit from a number of exclusive and exciting rewards as a thank you for playing their part in the London 2012 Games.

People who are interested in taking part should be 16 or over by 1 January 2012 and live in the borough. Applicants should be able to commit to at least five, four-hour long shifts during the busiest days of the Olympic Games or Paralympic Games between 28 July and 12 August and 30 August and 9 September. There are three shift times: 8am-12pm, 12-4pm and 4-8pm. Volunteers must be able to attend training sessions next summer.

The Council has teamed up with Kaizen Partnership to deliver this volunteer programme and applications are now open until Tuesday 18 October. The first 400 applications received will be reviewed first so the quicker you send your application, the better your chances of being picked.

• To request an application form phone 020 8496 3000, email Olympics@walthamforest.gov.uk or visit www.walthamforest.gov.uk/2012games.

Youngsters learn to play beach volleyball on the new beach at The Score Centre

On the beach

- New 'urban beach' will offer beach soccer and beach volleyball facilities in Leyton
- Coaching sessions on offer to teach residents new sports

Think of beach volleyball and beach soccer and the first thing you might imagine are tanned beach-lovers frolicking in the sand in some far-off country. Thankfully, for enthusiasts of the two sports there will now be somewhere to take part closer to home – as The Score Centre in Leyton is the venue for a fantastic new urban beach.

The beach, which is open now, offers Waltham Forest residents beach soccer and beach volleyball facilities which can be booked on an hourly basis.

The beach was made possible after the London Organising Committee of the Olympic Games (LOCOG) donated 2,274 tonnes of sand from the recent Olympic test event, the Visa FIVB Beach Volleyball International held at Horse Guards Parade to Councils across London.

Cllr Geraldine Reardon, Cabinet Member for Leisure, Arts and Culture, told Waltham Forest News: "This is a fabulous opportunity for residents to go along and give beach volleyball or beach soccer a go, meet new friends, get healthier and maybe start a new sport for life. We might even find future beach soccer or volleyball and most weekends during summer because there is such a lack of beach volleyball facilities in London. It's very exciting that I will have a beach court facility so close to my house. I'm over the moon!

She added: "It will give the opportunity to start the sport for those who have never tried it, and for me it will give me the opportunity to develop talent in the borough."

Leyton resident, and beach volleyball enthusiast, Daniela Sanchez Quintero told Waltham Forest News she was very excited that she'd finally be able to play her favourite sport in her home borough.

Daniela said: "I'd been travelling to Portsmouth to train every Wednesday and improve my game.

"Beach volleyball is so much fun, once you get the taste of it and get used to moving in the sand you won't want to stop. It is also a great work out; you run, dive, get up and jump. It definitely keeps you fit while you are having the time of your life."

The beach will be open at The Score Centre (Oliver Road, Leyton, E10 5JY) every day and offers either four volleyball courts or one beach football and two volleyball courts. The hire charge, which includes nets and balls, is £15 per hour for beach volleyball and £30 per hour for beach soccer.

The beach is open to people of all ages, and coaching sessions will take place for both sports.

The courts and pitch can be booked by visiting the centre or phoning in advance.

Jumping for joy: students at George Monoux College had reason to celebrate

Exam round-up

- Bumper year for exam results as brainy students show their skills
- GCSE pass rate up by 8 per cent in just one year

We knew Waltham Forest's young people were a brainy bunch, but with this year's GCSE and 'A' Levels in the bag they've given us even more reason to be proud of them.

'A' Levels

As ever, the 'A' Level results were out first and nervous teens were crossing their fingers as they queued up outside the borough's colleges on 18 August.

Results were opened with a mixture of terror, hope and trepidation as young people found out how they'd fared. Turns out it was a bumper year for 'A' Level passes, with the hard work of local students paying off and pass rates rising or staying level across the board.

Sir George Monoux College in Walthamstow achieved an enviable pass rate of 98 per cent, with high-flying students set to study at UCL, Southampton, Queen Mary University of London and the London School of Economics.

One student, Jalaluddin Ahmed, is bound for the lofty halls of Cambridge University following straight A grades in Biology, Mathematics, Psychology and Chemistry. "Monoux has great teachers and I want to thank them for all their help," said Jalaluddin who will soon be studying Natural Science at one of the world's best universities.

GCSEs

It was the turn of our younger students to chew their nails in anticipation a week later, with GCSE results revealed on 25 August. Despite all the fretting it seemed their brainpower won out, with provisional figures showcasing the borough's best ever GCSE results.

The figures show the number of Waltham Forest pupils gaining five or more A* - C grades was 74.7 per cent (up eight per cent from last year) while the number of pupils achieving the gold standard five or more A* - C grades including Maths and English rose by 2.6 per cent on last year to 53.49 per cent, once more exceeding the target set by the Borough with the Department for Education.

The pupils at Leytonstone's Buxton School, for example, outdid themselves with 66 per cent of their pupils gaining five GCSEs at grades C and above and 45 per cent gaining five GCSEs at grade C and above with English and Maths.

This represents a whopping 10 per cent improvement on last year's results, and headteacher Candice Dwight was justifiably proud of her young brainboxes: "We're all absolutely delighted with our excellent results. This is reward for the hard work of all our young people and the exceptional effort and hard work of our staff. This is exactly what Ofsted recognised when they inspected the school in June this year."

London Borough of Waltham Forest

Members Allowances scheme

Elected Members (Councillors) of an Authority are entitled under the Members' Allowances scheme to receive remuneration for the duties they perform. This scheme is set out in the Constitution of the Council. The scheme is governed by the Local Government & Housing Act, 1989, as amended and the Local Authorities (Members' Allowances) (England) Regulations, 2003. All Councillors are entitled to a basic allowance to cover their democratic duties, some Councillors also receive a Special Responsibility Allowance (SRA) reflecting the level of their additional duties (see the table below). Councillors who hold more than one post are only entitled to claim the SRA with the greatest value. In appropriate circumstances, Councillors can claim an allowance towards carers costs, travelling and subsistence costs when carrying out certain duties outside the Borough.

At its meeting on 26 May 2011, the Council agreed amendments to its Members' Allowances scheme, which took effect from that date.

In agreeing its scheme, the Council took into consideration the latest recommendations of the London Council's Independent Panel on Members' Allowances published in May 2010. It was also agreed that the Leader of a Third Party, would only receive a SRA when that group had five or more Members. The following table sets out the current rates of Members' Allowances for the Municipal Year, 2011/12. Also set out are payments made to individual Members in the financial year 2010/11. The figures reflect that some Councillors did not hold office for a full year.
